- Although a call has been issued for the county boards of pensioners to meet on January 25, Comptroller Gen-eral Epton is afraid that he is going to have considerable trouble in getting them to assemble. The members of these boards get no salary, and, usually, receive a lot of "cussing" for what they do, and it is a hard matter to get men to stand that kind of thing long. Some change in the law will have to be made if this important matter is properly attended to.

- The following from the Atlanta Constitution's Washington correspon-dent indicates that Senator McLaurin's illness is quite serious: Senator Mc-Laurin of South Carolina is down with typhoid fever at his Washington resityphoid fever at his Washington residence, and it is feared the young Carolinian is a very sick man. He was not at all well when he came to Washington, but not until to-day did the physicians pronounce the case typhoid. McLaurin's severe illness of last summer has left him weak, and it is feared he may have a hard time of it.

From the State Capital.

Special Correspondence of Intelligencer.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 13, 1897. The State Board of Control has been in session during the past week. The regular monthly purchases were made and other routine business attended to. The Board instructed Commissioner Vance to pay to the State Treasurer the sum of $25,000, which amount is to be placed for the school fund. The County Board of Control of Sumter County petitioned the State Board to withhold Sumter's share of the dispensary profits and that the amount be used in employing a detective to suppress the unlawful cale of whiskies amount be used in employing a detective to suppress the unlawful cale of whiskies and liquors in that city. The matter of employing detectives was referred to the Governor for action. The profite will be withheld from the city.

Everything is in a state of quiescence around the Capitol. The Governor is busily engaged in preparing his message for the forthcoming meeting of the General Assembly. All the forces in the various departments are getting material in shape for presentation to Legislaters.

On last Thursday afternoon, about four miles out from the city, quarryman Brant was blown into a thousand atoms at the County quarry. One lundred and twenty-five pounds of dynamite in the magazine for blasting purposes was expleded, it is supposed by fire from the quarryman's pipe. On the by-roads that lead into the quarry the shattered and seattered remains of what was once a human being were lying by the path. A great hole gaped in the side of the hill where the magazine of explosives once stood. It was eight feet long by four wide and three deep. In it was kept dynamite, electric appliances, fuses and such articles used in blasting rock. John Brant had charge of this magazine. He handled the dynamite and did the shooting, and was depended on in general in the work of blasting. John Blowers, the fireman under engineer Marsh, says that he carried some fuse the engineer had given him and laid it on the end of the magazine and upon his return told Brant of it. Brant went to place it away. Previous to this one of the workmen says that just before Blowers came up to tell about the fuse he saw Brant which a pipe in his hand. He is not positive that Brant was smoking, but knew him to be an habitual smoker. So it is only a supposition that when Brant went to put up the fuse, and was leaning over the box, a spark from his pipe touched off the dynamite. Brant was blown straight away towards the road about thirty-live yards. His body passed through three large clusters of continuous the reserver of the body through the rees se sphashes of blood on the trees several feet from the ground. The passage of the body through the trees, was marked by scarred and broken brauches. The hend and legs were blown or tern from the trunk. Parts of the head and legs were picked up at least fifty yards from the magazine.

The appearance of a case of small pox at Rock Hill during the past week has caused much anxiety in regard to its probable consequences and spread in the neighboring cities. It is quite likely that the city authorities will take precautionary measures at once and order a general vaccination. Just after the opening of the South Carolina College, the faculty, acting upon the advice of the College physician, asked that each student reports at the infirmary for vaccination. This was promptly done and those who had not been previously vaccinated had it done immediately. Most of them proved effective. However, those whose vaccination did not take at first reported this morning for another trial. So with such timely precautions there is no probability or possibility of the disease interfering with work of the collefie. It is reported to-day that the Presbyterian Female College and the Methodiat Female College authorities have taken action and ordered all students to be vaccinated without further delay. A. B. S.
